MACCABEE'S WIN PRAISE

Celebration at Sutter Creek on 4th Was Grand Success

Fourth of July, 1910, will long live in the memory of Sutter Creek's residents, and those who visited the pretty little town to help celebrate the 134th anniversary of the nation's birthday.

The lady Maccabees acquitted themselves nobly, and carried out their huge program with precision, and in a praiseworthy manner. The large crowd of visitors were well taken care of, and ample accommodations were supplied for all.

The exercises of the day were started by a parade, which formed on South Main street, and marched north through the town, countermarching through the prominent streets. The parade was headed by Lawrence Burke as grand marshal, followed by the Amador band. Thirteen young girls representing the thirteen original states, led a tandem of white horses, which drew a beautiful decorated float upon which was seated Olga O'Bradovich, representing the Goddess of Liberty.

A small boy mounted on a white horse costumed as Uncle Sam, led 48 small girls dressed in white, wearing shoulder pieces bearing the name of the state each one represented. Rebekah lodge followed, with a beautiful float representing Rebekah at the well with Isaac and his son. The new chemical fire wagon recently purchased by the fire department, and its several hose carts, and hook and ladder wagon followed. Amador parlor N. S. G. W. had a float carrying the pioneers of the town with a large mounted bear and implements for working gold.

Amapola parlor, N. D. G. W., was well represented and was followed by Ladies' Improvement Club float carrying a tiny babe in a crib and a lady standing watch over it. Several small children were seated on the float.

The Slavonian society turned out in full and made an excellent showing.

The lady Maccabees took up the rear and were all dressed in white carrying Japanese parasols. The parade was a complete success for the occassion and well gotten up.

The exercises on the platform followed immediately after the parade were opened by president of the day, Wm. G. Snyder of Jackson. Mr Snyder gave a very interesting historical talk, fired with patriotism, and praise to the flag and its defenders. Rev. Esterbrook of Sutter Creek offered a short prayer invoking the blessings of the Almighty to rest on the occasion, and bless those in charge of the well carried out program.

Mrs C. E. Jarvis interestingly read the declaration of independence, and J. Quirolo, a former Sutter boy, rendered a patriotic song "Stars, Stripes Forever." Miss Julia E. Tanner, recited in a most able manner, James Whitcomb Riley's "Old Glory." It was well received and heartily applauded.

Prof. Z. B. Smith of Berkeley, orator of the day opened his address by welcoming all visitors to Sutter Creek, in behalf of the ladies of the Maccabees.

Prof. Smith described the pride each individual should take in helping commemorate the historic birth of our nation. He told how much we owe to women, for her important part played in the work of progress, down through the ages, asserting that through the sacrifice of Queen Isabella, by disposing of her jewels, the expedition of Columbus was made possible, he described the fortitude of the pilgrim mothers, and urged cooperation of all, declaring where cooperation exists, success is also found. Federation of nations is bound to come he asserted, and for this great undertaking he held aloft the person of Theodore Roosevelt as the greatest man the world has ever known.

Betsey Ross was lauded for the important part she played in American history, by designing and constructing the first American flag. The most beautiful emblem that was ever whipped by the breath of heaven in a sun kissed sky, under whose folds many battles were gallantly fought and won.

Prof. Smith made good with the ladies when he assured them that he

MINE NEWS ALONG LODE

Interesting Accounts of Mines Located In Amador Co.

Bunker Hill

The damage to the gallows frame caused by an accident the latter part of last week, was greatly exaggerated ia reports sent to outside papers. The damage was slight, and caused no stoppage of mining activity. The trouble with the engineers which was reported in these columns last week, has been satisfactorily adjusted. Two of the old engineers returned to work, and one new man engaged. The clean-up for the June run was over $24,000—$1200 per stamp. The drift at the 1950 level is being pressed forward as rapidly as possible, it is not expected to tap the ore body before the end of the month.

Lincoln Consolidated

Work was started at the Lincoln Consolidated mine at Sutter Creek last Tuesday. Men were put to work clearing up around the shaft, preparatory to starting the hoist to unwater the mine. The hoisting machinery erected by the former company is first-class, and capable of prospecting the property to a much greater greater depth than the existing workings. All the stock offered for sale to provide working capital has been subscribed. A. L. Noce, a veteran mining man of this county, has been appointed to take charge of the development work as superintendent. He is thoroughly posted on the dips, spurs and angles of mother lode mining. There is no valid reason, notwithstanding all the prospecting that has been done on this property in the past, why the Lincoln Consolidated should not develop into a dividend payer.

Amador Limerock Company

Deeds to the property covered by the company's options on limestone lands in the Mount Echo district have been placed in escrow at the bank of J. W. Surface & Son, Ione. The first instalment of the purchase price was paid to the Ione bankers for the benefit of the landowners yesterday. The amount paid was ten per cent of the purchase price. With these preliminary matters settled the next business will be development work to ascertain the extent and character of the limestone deposits. Men will be put to work for this purpose within the next few days. There is little doubt that the ledges will prove satisfactory in every respcet. This work will require several weeks to complete, and not until it is finished will the company feel justified in going ahead to equip the quarries for permanent work, and proceed to arrange for marketing the prroduct. This enterprise bids fair to open up an extensive and thriving industry in that section.

ASSESSMENT ROLL FOR 1910.

FRIDAY JULY 8, 1910

GET IN YOUR PETITIONS.

The coming week will see the close of filing papers for party nominations. Most of the petitions for county offices have already been filed with the county clerk. While there is ample time yet in which to circlate petitions for signatures it is well to impress upon candidates the inadvisability of putting off the presentation of the papers until the last day or so. They must bear in mind that the mere leaving of the papers with the county clerk is not tantamount to filing the same—it is merely a preliminary step, and it does not necessarily follow that they will be filed. The clerk has his duty to perform in relation thereto. It is his business to carefully examine the papers and the signatures thereto attached, and see if the law is substantially complied with. In case of any material discrepancy, he is required to refuse filing, until the objections have been overcome. This is where the danger of delay comes in. If the petitions are not offered until the last moment, and inaccuracies are discovered which are a bar to filing, there would be no time left within which to make the required amendments; consequently the candidate would be left out in the cold—shut off the primary ballot of his party through his own neglect to get his papers in on time. To avoid the possibility of disappointment on this line, nominating petitions should be filed at the earliest possible moment from now on—the sooner the better. The waiting game has nothing in its favor at this late stage.

BOOMERANG TACTICS.

Our democratic friends have started out in the local canvass on a peculiar, and for them very inconsistent, line of policy. The issues between candidates of opposing parties are not fairly drawn. The contests now on are between rival candidates of the same party for the respective nominations. But for all this, it is wafted to our ears that efforts are being made to stir up prejudices for party purposes on the basis of issues that have been dead and buried for twenty years past. As a general proposition voters are naturally disposed to frown upon such ill-advised efforts, unless the matters referred to invove the integrity of the candidate or his fitness for the position sought. Moreover, the attempt to resurrect issues from the dead past should be distasteful to democrats particularly, who are not slow to protest against waving the crimson garment at this late period. People are extremely touchy when it comes to appealing to sectarian prejudices in trying to make these ghosts of the grave return to rekindle bitterness and prejudice. Party necessity cannot and will not be accepted in justification of such conduct. While these crude attempts at "doing politics" should be and will be generally condemned regardless of partyism, from a strictly party standpoint, the republicans have no reason to complain. They look upon this democratic move as a blunder of the worst kind, freighted only with disaster to themselves. Like an old rusty gun, the discharge of which is apt to do more execution behind than in front, this weapon will surely prove a boomerang. It is well for the ultra political partisan to remember that the average voter takes little stock in his extreme methods, and efforts to enforce them will work havoc only in the house of his friends.

Republicans should be wary about falling into traps laid by democrats. Political office-seekers naturally perfer a weak opponent to a strong one. This may not be commendable from a patriotic view point, but it is partisanship all the same. It not infrequently happens that an aspirant for office will endeavor to manipulate things on the other side so as to secure a weak nominee on the opposite ticket. This is much easier under the direct primary plan than it was under the convention system, especially where there is an indisposition to volunteer as a candidate. Any tendency of democrats to fix up republican politics should be discouraged in every way. A vacancy on the republican ticket is much to be preferred to the nomination of a concededly weak and vulnerable candidate. We don't have to play into the hands of the enemy in that fashion. We don't want to load up with deadweight for the sake of filling up the ticket.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY

Reported weekly for the Ledger.

The Social Stimulus—A Street Car Recorder—The Poisons of Soils—Number of Animals—Electricity from Heat—A Big Light—Calcium Carbide Cakes—Successful Plating of Aluminum—Intensity of Our Sun and Others.

The effect of ambition, rivalry and the like on human effort has been long recognized, but modern psychologists have noted a more subtle stimulus in mere companionship. The individual becomes quite transformed when in a group. His work is done quicker and better, and this is true not only of adults but of children, whose study at home has been shown by tests to be inferior to that done in the class-room. The mysterious influence is apparent even in lower animals. In testing the responses of the nervous system of the dog. Mosso found that the presence of the master in the room affected the result; and in experiments on dogs at Harvard University the presence of the experimenter had marked effect. This social stimulus, it is declared, colors everything. Prisoners seek it in pathetic way by making pets of mice and flies; and children have social instincts so strong that if unfortunately isolated they are apt to create imaginary companions and to live in a dream world of society. These facts have important bearing on other problems besides those teaching, with which they are considered by Prof. W. H. Burnham, of Clark University.

The electric recorders used by Berlin traction companies for two or three years have effected important economies, although costing $10 each, while requiring 13 extra employees for 3000 conductors. The apparatus is a clock that automatically stops and starts with the car. A definite time is allowed for the round trip, and if the record shows too much loss from stops, motorman and conductor are given fresh training, and are discharged if no improvement follows. The new device has led to an increase of 10 per cent in speed, with a decrease of 20 or 30 per cent in repairs of motors and brakes.

The exhaustion of soils is now understood to be due in part to plant poisons formed, and the United States Department of Agriculture is seeking to gain some knowledge of these substances. So far four new crystalline organic compounds have been described—one quite injurious to wheat seedlings and a second somewhat harmful—and a number of others have been isolated.

Considering the number of species of animals, A. E. Shipley, in a British association paper, has pointed out that most species of large animals—especially of mammals—are probably now known, but that insects and small animals in general still offer a vast field for exploration. A few years ago Guenther showed that the number of known species of all kinds had increased from 73,588 in 1830 to 311,653 in 1881. In the half century, the known species of mammals had grown from 1200 to 2300; birds from 3900 to 11,000; reptiles 543 to 3400; fishes 3500 to 11,000; mollusks 11,000 to 33,000; moss animalcules 40 to 120; crustacea, 1290 to 7500; arachnida (spders, etc.) 1048 to 8070; myriapods (centipedes, etc) 450 to 1300; insects 49,100 to 220.150; echinodermata (sea urchins, starfishes, etc.) 230 to 18,043; worms, 372 to 6070; collenterata 500 to 2200; foraminifera 50 to 400; and protozoa 305 to 3500. The new species discovered since 1881 have probably averaged 12,000 annually, making the total number now known more than 600,000. The insects were estimated by Sharpe in 1895 at a quarter of a million species, and he concluded that ten times as many remained to be found.

The new thermoplie known as the Davidson thermo-generator has copper-antimony couples, each consisting of a vertical copper tube, to the top of which is soldered a float strip of antimony, which passes horizontally inward and then vertically downward around a porcelain-like block. Using 50 couples connected in series, the copper tubes are arranged in two parallel rows of 25 each, with the antimony strips approaching one another at the top. Running the whole length of the apparatus directly under the antimony strips is a burner, with anumber of jets for gas or alcohol vapor, and the white blocks retain the heat. Heating one minute gives full current, which may reach 3 amperes at 4 volts. The generator may be used hours continuously, and takes the place of dry batteries for a medical lamp, a fan or other purposes.

The most powerful street lamp in the world, the high pressure gas lamp lately set up opposite the Aldwych skating rink in London, emits a light of at least 4500 candle-power. This is three times the candle-power of any other gas light in England, more than ten times that of a powerful arc lamp, and nearly 300 times that of the ordinary incandescent lamp.

The "Carbic" cakes made in Yorkshire are designed to give improved lighting by acetylene, and consist of a mixture of granulated calcium carbide, sulphur and sugar compressed into cylindrical masses. The carbide being surrounded by a protective covering, that is proof against dampnesss of the air, decomposition takes place only in contact with liquid moisture. The surface reached by the water is only part carbide, and the acetylene is not evolved at the usual excessively high rate, but is given off more gradually and evenly. The lime formed falls away freely. In the special generators the carbide cakes are suspended in a cage, and the pressure that forces water up to them is governed by the gas itself, so that generation is automatically adjusted to consumption. A feature of the system is the washing of the gas by passing through water and its purification by chemicals. The cakes save waste and make handling easier, and the purity of the gas and regularity of pressure give a clear white flame, that is free from haze and does not clog the burner.

A practical method of electroplating aluminum is claimed by a Berlin firm, and durable plated aluminum ware is expected to become common in the near future. In the many previous attempts the plating has peeled off in a short time This has been found to be due to the presence of a film of oxide on the aluminum, and a simple process of removing this has insured the production of good and permanent coatings. Some plated aluminum spoons were boiled eight hours in strong caustic soda solution, then allowed to remain in the cold solution 36 hours more. Protected by the plating the spoons were unharmed, but in spots intentionally left uncovered the aluminum was completely eaten away. It is estimated that this test is about equivalent to washing household articles with soda, etc.. for 18 months to two years.

The light of the sun has been estimated by M. Nordman, a French physicist, to equal 319,000 standard candles for each square centimeter of its surface. Vega and Sirius were found to have the great luminosity of 6,000,000 candles per square centimeter, but, on the other hand, reddish Aldebaran, has a bightness of only 22,000 candles, and Rho Persei has a dimness as low as 4000 candles.

FAMOUS MINES

Old Mining Sites Hold Many Interesting Tales

Speaking of the passing of once famous mines, W. H. Storms in the Pacific Miner has the following concerning some of the idle mines of the county:

At Sutter Creek, in Amador county, the visitor to the town looks with wonder at the great blue-black dumps at the side of the road as he rides down Sutter Hill. All is quiet and idle now, the buildings are gone and no one is about. Only the massive stone foundations and rusty old engines and boilers are left to mark the site of one time activity and wealth. This is the famous Consolidated Eureka mine, the greatest of them all, with a record of $20,000,000, and said to be a good mine still. It was worked to a depth of 2100 feet, and was still profitable, but the timbers in the lower levels took fire one unfortunate day and the water was turned into the workings to extinguish the fire and it has never since been taken out. This is the story of the old Eureka. It is owned by Mrs Hetty Green, of New York, said to be the richest woman in the world, but for some reason Mrs Green seems indisposed to re-equip and re-open the famous old bonanza.

At Amador City the great Keytone mine has produced, it is claimed, over $17,000,000, but like others, it is idle to-day. Recently an eastern company overtook to work it but was unable to raise the money necessary to its proper development in depth and the property was closed down with an excellent prospect for a long continued lawsuit.

Over at Plymouth, near the north side of the county, all is as quiet as in a farming community, yet, at one time, Plymouth was one of the most active and prosperous town in the state. In those days the far-famed Plymouth Consolidated was in operation. This property comprised the Empire and the Pacific mines which adjoined. Alvinza Hawyard became the principal owner and was a most vigorous miner. At one time he was the principal owner of the Empire mine. His ore shoot was good but it unfortunately, for him, extended over the end line into the Pacific. This was embarrassing, to say at the least, but Mr Howard was a resourceful man and soon found a way out of the difficulty—he went over the line into the Pacific after the ore and took out a very large amount of gold. He then proceeded to acquire control of the Pacific mine, disposing of his interest in the Empire. He soon thereafter "discovered" the trespass and promptly brought suit against the Empire company for the value of ore taken from his mine, the Pacific. After a long suit at law the Empire company turned that mine over to Hayward in settlement of the suit, and the two mines were then consolidated and worked as one property. It was worked to a depth of about 1600 feet and was said to still be profitable when it, like the Eureka, at Sutter Creek, took fire, since which time the mine has been idle, for 20 years.

A Modern King Lear In Kansas

At the Soldiers' Home, at Leavenworth, is an old man, passed 90 years of age, who was once very wealthy. When he decided he was too old to further attend to business he divided his property between his two daughters on an agreement that they keep him until he died. The usual thing happened. As soon as they got hold of the property they kicked him out, and he went to the Soldiers' Home where, with the $20 a month pension he received, he is living contentedly.

DONT HIDE YOUR MONEY

The man who hides his money because he assumes to be afraid of banks forgets that it was the bank that perhaps made the prosperity possible which gave him his money making opportunities. Without the bank there would be no large commercial or business enterprises possible, salaries snd wages would be low, and money making impossible. It is the bank in the exercise of its function in gathering together the funds of a community and putting them into active use that has brought prosperity.

To hide money is to hinder and hurt prosperity by restricting the circulation of money. Bring your money to the bank.

Agriculteral Reports

By favor of Senator Perkins, the Ledger has received a number of government reports on a variety of subjects of interest to farmers and stock raisers. These pamphlets are written by experts, who have devoted much study to the subjects discussed, and they are deemed of much value to agriculturists. Farmers and others interested can have a copy free, so long as the supply lasts, by calling at the Ledger office. We cannot send them by mail.

For Supervisor.

In this issue we publish the card of F. B. Joyce of Defender, who announces himself a candidate for the republican nomination for supervisor in township three. Mr Joyce has lived n that section a number of years, having developed the Defender mine. He is well and favorably known as an upright intelligent citizen, and would no doubt make an excellent supervisor. He will abide by the decision of the primaries, and earnestly work for the success of the republican nominee, whether the honor falls to him or his republican rival, L. H. Cook.

Deafness Can not be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever: nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

JACKSON TAKES ANOTHER GAME

Score 12 to 6 at End of Game In Favor of Local Team

The ball game between Sutter Creek and Jackson Monday, July 4th, at Sutter Creek was won by the county seat team by a score of 12 to 6.

Skelly and Huber can be given much credit for a large amount of the victory, although the team as a whole, played excellent ball. Vela pitched the game for Jackson, and although he allowed many base on balls, he steadied down in the second part of the game, and with proper support, the team had an easy victory.

An incident which marred the interest in the game was caused by Cromer, a Jackson player, who it can be fairly said put his man out after a double play by Skelly, from 3rd base, in which 2 runners should have been put out. The ball was thrown to Cromer and his runner declared safe by the umpire. This angered Cromer and he went on the verge of hitting the umpire, when deputy sheriff Connors interferred and prevented what positively would have ended in a serious riot, as the mob serged in on the diamond and uttered all kinds of threats. The difficulty was peacefully settled however, and the playing resumed, 1 run being allowed to stand.

These incidents are most regrettable affairs and help among the more narrow element to create an ill feeling between the two towns, when it should be remembered that the trouble always lies between a few individuals who become angered for a moment, while the respect held by Jackson toward Sutter Creek could have been no clearer shown than it was on this occasion. Nearly every business man from Jackson attended the celebration and the county towns as a whole practically paid their neighbor a visit to help make her fourth a memorial event. Following is the score.

Has Gone to Sleep After a Long Wake

Alonzo Wire, of Hackestown, N. J., famous for twenty years as the sleepless policeman, has passed quietly into the final sleep. Twenty years ago Wire was struck by lightning. The shock deprived him at first of his speech and his hearing and when he subsequently regained them left some subtle derangement of the nervous system, which prevented him from sleeping. Doctors who heard of his case made elaborate tests, but they never caught him napping and at last his assertion that he never slept gained credence. He used to lie down to rest his body but his eyes remained open and his brain always active. Although never fully at rest, his health seemed unimpaired until he was attacked by bronchial asthma, from which he died. A few nights ago he called his wife to his bedside, "Thank heavens," he said, "I think I'm going to fall asleep." He never wakened.

Chinese Cook Dies.

Chinese Jim, a well-known Chinese cook, and a partner in the Olympus restaurant, died on Sunday evening, after a brief illness. He was working in the restaurant as usual up to Thursday afternoon preceding his death. About 4 o'clock of that day he complained of severe griping pains, which compelled him to quit work and go to his lodging room in Chinatown. Two doctors were called, but they were unequal to the task of arresting the disease. He was about 51 years of age, and leaves a wife and family in China. He was commonly known as "Kirkwood," from the fact that for many years he has been cook at Kirkwood's station in Alpine county during the summer season. He was there in that capacity last summer.

A large section of plaster fell from the ceiling of the judge's chamber in the court house last week, filling the judge's chair and office desk with piles of plaster. WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

13 IN POLITICS

Many Candidates Carry Dreaded Number, in Letters of Name

Is 13 really an unlucky number?

The question is to be fully tested at the republican primaries on Aug. 16, for four of the candidates for the gubernatorial nominationin the party have each 13 letters in their names.

"Here they are, 13—count 'em—13," as the circus posters say:

Hiram W. Johnson 13
Alden Anderson 13
Charles F. Curry 13
Philip Stanton 13

And that isn't the worst of it. The principal backers of some of those candidates have 13 letters in their names. For instance, the governor and the lieutenant governor of the state are backing Anderson, and—fate of fates—there are 13 letters in the names of James N. Gillett and 13 in that of Warren R. Porter.

The National Committeeman, George A. Knight and John Spreckles, the sugar millionaire, are the chief backers of Charles F. Curry, and each has 13 letters in his name. And so it seems that if 13 is really an unlucky number—well, California will have to look elsewhere than the fated four for a republican candidate for governor.

Of course, the Turks have always blotted 13 from their language because of their fear of it. The Italians eliminate the dread figures from their lotteries. The Partisans have no house numbered 13 on any street. There were 13 at table when Loki butted in and Baldur, the beautiful, was killed. —There were 13 at the table when Judas betrayed his Master to death. So we certainly have an afflicted lot of candidates in those smitten four.

But, aha! All is not lost! Nat Ellery to the rescue!

He hasn't any 13 letters in his name, no matter how you fix it. And, on the other hand, he has nine letters in the name as he writes it—and nine is the luckiest of all numbers—the mystic number of the Greeks, the diapason, the triple trinity, the superlative superlaives, the sacred numeral of the Hindus. That ought to fix things for Ellery, but—

One of the learned friends of Allden Anderson put a stop to the Ellery ecstacy by saying:

"Remember, Vulcan fell nine days when he was kicked out of the society of the gods, and hit awful hard on Lemnos, and it was a nine days' fall for the angels that were thrown out of heaven before they lit among the nine rivers of hell."—S. F. Examiner.

DEEDS, NOT WORDS

Jackson People Have Absolute Proof of Deeds at Home

It's not words but deeds that prove true merit.

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills, For Jackson kidney sufferers, Have mad e their local reputation.

Proof lies in the testimony of Jackson people who have been cured to stay cured.

Mrs Eliza Hobbs, Newmanville, Jackson, Cal., says: "I cheerfully re-indorse Doan's Kidney Pills and confirm all I said in their favor over two and a half years ago, when I publicly recommended them. My back was lame and painful and I was obliged to walk all stooped over. In the morning I was stiff and lame and I did not have a moment's freedom from pain. My ambition and energy left me and I was distressed by headache and dizzy spells. One of my friends had taken Doan's Kidney Pills with satisfactory results and on this person's advice, I was induced to try the remedy. I procured my supply from the City Pharmacy and by the time I had taken the contents of two boxes, not a symptom of my trouble remained. I have been free from kidney complaint during the time that has since passed.

Primary Election Law Gets Another Trial

On the second day of next August the primary election law will be given its second trial in Kansas. On that date all of the candidates of all parties will be nominated and then the names of the nominees will go on the ballots for the general election in November. On that date not only the candidates for state office will be nominated, but all county and township officials as well. The primary election law applies to every office from that of governor down to precinct committeemen. The primary election law was enacted by the legislature of 1907. It does away with the old convention system entirely. There are no county conventions, no congressional conventions and no state conventions under the primary. The nearest approach to the convention is the party council which is held after the primary for the purpose of formulating a party platform and election of officers for the state central committee.—Achieson Globe.

Big Slate Contract

R. G. Graham, formerly resident agent for tthe Eureka slate quarries in San Francisco, has been at Slatington in this county for some days past, but went on to the bay city Friday morning. He arranged to supply the state with about $2,000 worth of roofing slate Thursday which will be used at the Preston school of Industry. Mr Graham expects to take charge of the quarries, and start work again about the first of August. The expensive headquarters heretofore maintained in San Francisco at an expense of $900 per month for rent only will be done away with, and there is little doubt but that the quarries will be able to operate successfully if other unnecessary expenses of similar nature are lopped off, and the receipts from sales put into paying the wages of workmen. These quarries are the largest west of Pennsylvania, and the product is the finest slate produced in this country.—Nugget.

New Water Pipes Are Being Laid

Mrs C. Richtymer, owner of the Jackson water works has just received 500 feet of 11 inch pipe, for the repair of the main line between the tank and Main street. It is intended to replace that portion which lies at the point of greatest pressure, and which crosses the creek, and running about 300 feet on the east side. At this point the old pipe has given considerable trouble of late, with frequent breaks, it is about worn out, so it was decided to replace it with new No 12. pipe, which is much heavier than the old pipe. The work of laying the new pipe will be rushed to completion as speedily as possible.

Venison At a Dollar a Pound

There is general growl all over the country at the high price of beef, but the cost is trifling compared to that charged some people for venison. A. M. Davis says he is willing to go before any investigating high price commission and demonstrate that the price per pound placed upon deer meat by Justice Carkeek is extravagantly high. Davis was found with freshly killed venison in his camp at Dry Meadows by deputy game warden, Guy Scott and promptly arrested. Upon his plea of guilty he was fined $50 which he paid. As near as he can estimate the meat cost him a dollar a pound.--Union Democrat.
